

Primary Care Paramedic

Calian

Regina, SK

Full-time, Casual

Full Job Description

About the role:

Calian is currently seeking experienced and skilled Primary Care Paramedics (PCPs) to work within the Regina Police Service's Detention Unit. Providing care to newly arrested individuals, the PCP will leverage their clinical skill set and scope of practice to provide comprehensive medical and mental health assessments to detained individuals and ensure proper follow up care based on assessment outcomes in a clinic-like setting.

With a focus on ensuring detainees are medical fit to remain in cells, PCPs will work with Regina Police staff to provide medical care to detainees while ensuring detainee safety. PCPs will document patient care findings, respond to medical and mental health needs, liaise with a multi-disciplinary team of community clinicians and stakeholders, provide emergency care, and when necessary, arrange transport to hospital. As the sole medical professional on site, the PCP must be able to work autonomously, have great communication skills, and be highly reliable.

Mandatory Requirements:

- Licensed and in good standing with the Saskatchewan College of Paramedics
- Valid CPR certification
- Experience dealing with mental health and addictions
- Ability to work autonomously
- Communication and conflict de-escalation skills are an asset

Employment Details:

- Full time and casual positions available
- 12-hour shifts
- Competitive salary
- Full time employees eligible for benefits and paid time off

Work Location: In person

Benefits:

- Casual dress
- Disability insurance
- Employee stock purchase plan
- Flexible schedule
- Vision care
